“If you’re not concerned about AI safety, you should be. Vastly more risk than North Korea.” ~Elon Musk

THE THREE DEMANDS

Recently, the Lakeside Middle School Writers demands three things related to AI. Their first demand is that the writers will write the first draft, but AI can help the writers edit only. The problem with AI: “AI tools can also create plagiarism issues and limit creativity and critical thinking.” (linkedin.com) Their second demand is that they will be in charge of the writing. If AI would ever be needed, then the writers would choose everything. unlike Hollywood, where the juicy topic is “writers' demands for stricter protections against artificial intelligence and larger royalties for their work” from nbcnews.com. Finally, the Lakeside Middle School

Writers demand that AI will be banned, according to searchenginejournal.com, “Writers felt they were not benefiting from studios' profits, and AI directly threatened their compensation and working conditions.”
